We're glad you asked!

BenchSci's mission is to exponentially increase the speed and quality of life-saving research. We do this by empowering scientists to run more successful experiments with the world's most advanced, easy to use biomedical artificial intelligence software platform. Our technology guides experimental design and accelerates preclinical R&D for over 40,000 scientists, working at more than 4,300 institutions worldwide, including 15 of the top 20 pharmaceutical companies. Organizations that are BenchSci customers see benefits such as quantifiable productivity gains, reduction in spend, and recouped scientist capacity.
