

Who uses BenchSci?

Last Modified on 08/07/2021 2:08 pm EDT

More than 40,000 scientists at more than 4,450 institutions, including 15 top 20 pharma companies, use our technology to advance the speed, quality, and efficiency of their preclinical experiments

Our users include a wide range of scientists in academia and industry from various research backgrounds and experience levels. Other users include those responsible for helping bench scientists design and execute experiments, such as lab managers, procurement professionals, and anyone else looking for data about reagents to compare or validate any part of their experimental process.
